

Every deck inspection is completed by a General Contractor with 35+ years of building experience. Since we build from the ground up and are the rotten wood specialist on the beach, we know exactly what to look for - we assess every possible safety aspect of the deck.

We look for loose or broken pickets, loose or bad/broken or worn deck boards, bolts missing in posts, bolts missing in band boards against the house, loose or bad step treads, broken stringers or steps to keep your guests safe. We make note of any trees that need to be cut back to assist with mold issues on the decks that could become slip hazards.

Safety Deck Inspections

Safety Deck Inspections

Your client's safety is our top priority! With recent tragedies of guests falling off of decks with injuries, we want to remove that liability from you by informing you or your clients of their deck safety issues.

Our Deck Inspections take the heat off of you!

We make sure that once we place Sea Thru Construction's stamp of approval on any deck, or give you our list of needed improvements, that you can rest easy with piece of mind that all safety issues have been addressed for you or your client. We take pictures of everything we find and include them with our inspection report, followed with an estimate to make repairs should you choose us to make the repairs for you. The safety report is yours to keep.
